

Cary Presbyterian Sunday School
Teaching Covenant

This covenant shall be a bond between the Cary Presbyterian Church, as represented by the Session, and the teacher to provide a learning experience through the study of God's Word as provided by Session-approved curriculum.

The church's responsibility in covenant with the teacher is:

- To provide curriculum materials and resources for a course of study.
- To provide well-equipped classrooms and supplies.
- To provide support through the Director of Christian Education and CE Team
- To support the teacher in prayer and encouragement and recognize his/her work as vital in the life and ministry of the church.

The teacher's responsibility in the covenant with the church is:

- To be an example of the Christian way of life to the student
- To participate in corporate worship.
- To make careful preparations and plans for the class each week you are teaching.
- To be dependable and in attendance and being present in the classroom prior to the students' arrival.
- To contact a member of your teaching team or a substitute if an absence is necessary.
- To engage in regular team teaching planning.
- To be available for training opportunities.
- To communicate regularly with the DCE regarding any scheduling problems, student concerns, or resource/supply needs.
- To sign and follow the guidelines of the Cary Presbyterian Church Safeguarding Our Children and Youth policy.
